

Design, Furniture

Aetherial and elegant, Chroma carpets by Republic Of II By IV are more than mere floor coverings as they become focal points of artistic expression

Global Design News · February 16, 2024 · 2 minute read

Toronto, Ontario, Canada

T

he Chroma Collection by Republic Of II By IV was created after Keith Rushbrook and Dan Menchions' extensive experimentation with foils and similar materials, and the allure of metallic finishes, akin to the captivating sheen found in delicate foils.

The result is a visionary carpet collection that transcends the ordinary, immersing spaces in an awe-inspiring display of metallic-inspired brilliance.

Chroma has been awarded a 2023 Good Design Award by The Chicago Athenaeum: Museum of Architecture and Design and The European Centre for Architecture Art Design and Urban Studies.

Its captivating fusion of artistry and innovation renders it a true beacon of originality and creativity.

Like glistening treasures, these area rugs are designed to radiate an iridescent glow, capturing the essence of light as it dances and reflects off nearby surfaces.

It is this ethereal quality that sets the collection apart, forging a harmonious union between classic elegance and contemporary allure.

Crafted with an expert eye for the details, Chroma epitomizes design excellence. Each rug is a testament to the skill and craftsmanship of our artisans, who have mastered the delicate art of capturing the metallic reflections with remarkable precision.

The result is a symphony of shimmering hues and playful shadows, evoking a sense of wonder and enchantment.

By pushing the boundaries of traditional rug design, Chroma offers a transformative experience.

The interplay of light, color, and texture creates a multi-dimensional canvas that sparks the imagination and instills a sense of joy and fascination.

Sustainability is at the core of its creation. Each rug is crafted to order and designed for contract use, minimizing waste and exemplifying our commitment to environmental consciousness.

Chroma embraces exquisite design but also contributes to a more sustainable future.

Project: Chroma

Designers: Republic Of II By IV

Lead Designers: Keith Rushbrook and Dan Menchions

Manufacturer: Yo2 Designs